CORNELL FELLOWS

---

Cornell Fellows is the college's premier opportunity for high-level internships and professional mentoring; Fellows apply the liberal arts to the world.

Audrey Saunders '09, Anderson Fellow in Public Affairs, worked directly with the senior vice president of media and communications with the National Association of Chain Drug Stores in Washington, DC to develop an association wide standard for use of language in describing issues salient to the lobbying efforts of the association and its members.

Brittany Roth '07, Target Corporation Fellow, worked with Target.com to review how products were presented on the website to maximize sales. After the fellowship, Roth became the second Cornell Fellow to be hired as a Business Analyst for Target after graduation.

Cara Ballard '06, Williams Fellow in Publishing, learned the ins and outs of the book publishing industry at the Independent Publishers Group, a major book distributor for independent publishers throughout the world. She worked on all facets of the business including production, sales, distribution processes, and marketing. Ballard was hired as a Production Assistant at IPG following her fellowship.

Cate O'Brien '08, Small Fellow in Theatre Production, stage managed a special holiday production of "An Old West Christmas Carol" for the regionally acclaimed Creede Repertory Theatre in the Rocky Mountains of Colorado. O'Brien has utilized her experience at Creede as a solid foundation for securing major theatre internships in following summers all over the United States.

Chris Ndjungu '08, Curtis L. Carlson Fellow in Applied Economics, is rotated through the various divisions of the Radisson Hotel Salt Lake City Downtown in order to gain insight into the operations of a major international hotel. Ndjungu hopes to one day manage an international hotel abroad.

Cory King '07, Cornell Fellow in Public Affairs, conducted legislative research, addressed constituent concerns, and provided briefings on various topics including the role of faith in the 2006 midterm elections as part of his work in the Office of U.S. Senator Tom Harkin in Washington, DC. King intends on working in the finance industry after graduation and then pursuing a joint JD-MBA.

Dimo Dimitrov '07, Rockwell Collins Fellow in Commercial Systems Engineering, developed a web-based staff skills assessment and professional development tool for one of Rockwell Collins' engineering units. Dimitrov was hired to become a Software Engineer for Rockwell Collins after graduation from Cornell.

Echo Liu '07, Brown Fellow in Banking, rotated through all divisions of the Hardin Community Savings Bank to gain a full perspective of a bank's operations. The summer after her fellowship, Liu was able to secure a competitive internship with Merrill Lynch in New York City in part because of her experience as a Fellow. Liu will be pursuing an M.A. in Economics at Miami University of Ohio following graduation.

Gordaki Moore '07, Cornell Fellow in History, completed research on major factors influencing the development of the African American community in the early part of the 20th century while at the Newberry Library in Chicago. Moore hopes her knowledge of the subject will better prepare her to be an effective teen sex educator in the future.

Jada Hallengren '08, Harland Soper Fellow in Sustainable Agriculture Production, conducted research on plant physiology as it relates to sustainable agriculture practices for farmers at the Leopold Center for Sustainable Agriculture in Ames. Hallengren intends on using her experience to advance her professional interests in the sciences after graduation.

Sarah Brungard '07, Golobic Fellow in Arts Administration, supported the growth of the Cedar Rapids Symphony Orchestra's Symphony School through collaborations with area schools and also worked on a variety of fundraising activities to support the operations of the mid-sized nonprofit organization. Brungard will be pursuing graduate work in Arts Administration in Boston.

Tyler Ulland '06, Lehr Fellow in Bioscience, conducted research on obesity while at the Baylor College of Medicine's Children's Nutritional Research Center. His contributions to the research findings were recognized in a second authorship for a scholarly journal publication. Ulland is now a Ph.D. student in Immunology at the University of Iowa.
