

Internship Funding from Dimensions Policies and Funding Eligibility

- Internship and independent study projects must be completed for academic credit in order to be eligible for Dimensions funding.
- Dimensions funding is not available if you are receiving funding from other sources (e.g. Cornell Fellows, Off-Campus Study, Berry Center, or wages from the internship site).
- You must be continuously enrolled at Cornell College during your internship experience and you must enroll for at least one course after the conclusion of the internship placement. If you withdraw from enrollment during the internship or do not subsequently enroll for at least one course following the placement, you must reimburse the Cornell Dimensions Program the full amount of the monetary expense allowance you received. *
- A summary report (including photos taken at the site) reflecting upon the internship/independent project is due to the Associate Director of Dimensions at the completion of the internship. If you fail to submit your paper on time, you must repay a portion of your funding to Dimensions within 30 days of the missed deadline.

*You have 30 days to repay the expense allowance following notification that repayment is due. After this 30 day period, a $100 billing fee will be assessed and included with the overdue amount and then added to any unpaid balance of tuition and fees. The expense allowance and billing fee will be added to any unpaid balance of tuition and fees and will be subject to the regular financial collection procedures which may include financial probation possibly leading to financial suspension from Cornell College.

The percentage of this repayment is currently being determined by the College. The website will be updated when this policy has been finalized.
