RE: Invitation to Trusteeship

Since 1971, the Board of Trustees of Cornell College has welcomed a member of each graduating class as a trustee of the College. During the past few years, the following Cornellians have participated on the Cornell Board as Young Trustees: Cory King ’07; Jessica Allison ’08, Jessica Morton ’09, Eli Wade-Scott ’10, Kyle Davy ’11, and last year Taylor Koch began her three-year term. We hope the following information will be useful to you as you consider the responsibilities of trusteeship.

The Board of Trustees is the governing body of Cornell College. The Board employs the President and formulates policy governing the entire operation of the College -- its educational programs, its financial affairs, the physical plant, and the quality of student life.

The Board is composed of up to 39 members plus the President of the College, ex officio. Cornell asks trustees to contribute their time, talent, and treasure to the College. What will that contribution mean to the member of your class who becomes a Young Trustee?

TIME: The trustee from the Class of 2013 will serve a three-year, non-renewable term. The senior recommended shall be considered and voted on by the trustees at the May Board meeting and shall become a trustee upon completing all requirements for graduation. The Board of Trustees meets twice on campus and once off-campus in a retreat format. Meetings are scheduled on the fourth Saturday in October, the first Saturday in February, and the first Saturday in May. The February meeting may move to the second Saturday in the future, but that has not been officially determined. Meetings begin on Thursday and continue through Friday. The main plenary session is Saturday morning and usually adjourns by 12:30 p.m. Trustees are asked to attend all regular and special meetings and are required to attend at least 50 percent of all scheduled meetings during the three-year term.

When the trustee has finished the term of service, we expect him or her to stay in touch with Cornell while exploring ways to make additional contributions to the College’s strength and excellence.
TALENT: Trustees are not elected to represent special constituencies. The member of the class of 2013 who becomes a trustee is not a representative of the class to the Board. Trustees are nominated and selected to serve because of their professional experience, their personal integrity, and their ability to think creatively about ways to enhance Cornell’s reputation and its competitiveness in the educational marketplace. A recent graduate of Cornell may not have the professional experience, the personal contacts, and the financial resources that other trustees often have, but the graduate can bring to the job the essential qualities of good character, sound judgment, and strong commitment to Cornell College.

Trustees bring their opinions and unique perspectives to the meetings. We value the diversity of their viewpoints, and we encourage the free and frank exchange of ideas. The ultimate concern of a trustee, however, must be Cornell College -- its mission, its excellence, and the ways and means to ensure its successful future. The trustee from the Class of 2013 will have the opportunity to participate in the governance of Cornell College at its highest level. The trustee will share this experience as an equal partner with the other members of the Board. The trustee will be expected to analyze data, review proposals, participate in conversations about the issues presented at the meetings, and vote when the questions are called.

TREASURE: Each trustee is asked to invest financially in Cornell’s future. That investment is a tangible and important expression of a trustee’s commitment to the College. We will ask the Young Trustee of the Class of 2013 to make that commitment through regular contributions to Cornell’s annual fund.

The trustees know that a new graduate may leave Cornell with financial obligations. The Board requests, therefore, that the new Young Trustee participate in the annual fund at a level he or she can reach. That participation sets an important example for younger alumni to follow.

We invite you to review the information packet and to consider applying.

If you have any questions or concerns as you consider the responsibilities of trusteeship, please let us know.
CORNELL COLLEGE TRUSTEESHIP
CLASS OF 2013
THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

1. Appointment. One member of the Class of 2013 will be recommended by the Committee on Trusteeship to serve a three-year term as a trustee of Cornell College. The term will begin in the fall of 2013 and end after the fall meeting of 2016. The Young Trustee is not eligible for immediate reappointment to the Board at the conclusion of the three-year term.

2. Meetings. The trustee is expected to attend the three regularly scheduled meetings of the Board each year. The Board meets on the fourth Saturday in October, the first Saturday in February, and the first Saturday in May. The February meeting may be moved to the second Saturday in February, but that has not yet been formally determined. A formal announcement, an agenda, and other information are sent to all trustees at least two weeks before each meeting. Each trustee is required to attend at least 50 percent of the regularly scheduled meetings of the Board and the appropriate standing committee during the three-year term.

3. Preparation and Orientation. After his/her election by the Board, the Young Trustee will also be invited to participate in a special orientation session for new trustees before the Board meeting in the spring of 2013.

4. Committee Assignment. The trustee will be assigned to one of the four policy committees. These committees are: Academic Affairs, Business Affairs, Enrollment and Student Affairs, and Alumni and College Advancement.

   Academic Affairs: The purpose of this committee is to inform itself and to make policy recommendations concerning all matters relating to academic goals, curricular programs, degree requirements, quality of instruction, and related matters.

   Business Affairs: This committee is responsible to the Board for recommending business policy for the effective and efficient operation of the College. This committee deals with annual and capital budget, business records and systems, business planning, legal functions, non-academic personnel, auxiliary enterprises, and buildings and grounds. The committee makes decisions regarding all the assets and investments of the College.

   Enrollment and Student Affairs: The purpose of this committee is to inform itself and make policy recommendations to the Board concerning all matters pertaining to student recruitment, retention, and the quality of student life on the campus other than matters relating to the academic program.

   Alumni and College Advancement: The purpose of this committee is to formulate, review, and monitor the needs, policies, and programs for institutional advancement. This includes Cornell’s fundraising activities and its public relations.
5. Expenses: During the three-year term, expenses incurred by the trustee from the Class of 2013 for transportation (within the continental United States), food, and lodging associated with regularly scheduled Board meetings, policy committee meetings, Board retreats, and special sessions will be paid by Cornell College. The trustee must submit valid receipts and an itemized list of all expenses associated with these meetings to receive reimbursement from the College.

6. Evaluation: The Committee on Trusteeship is responsible for evaluating the performance and attendance record of all trustees.
