

Wilch Apartments

Wilch Apartments is a three-story building located at the corner of 1st Street SW and 5th Avenue. The building houses 16 students in a mix of two-person, three-person, four-person and five-person apartments. Each apartment is air-conditioned and has a kitchen, bathroom and common living space. Furniture is provided in each bedroom; however, the College does not provide common area furniture.

Eligibility

All students returning to Cornell for the next academic year are eligible to sign up for housing in the Wilch Apartments. Apartment-style living offers more independent living options for students and requires a high level of maturity. Therefore, these options are not made available to students whose disciplinary records indicate they are not ready for this arrangement. Generally, this means no conduct violations for the past year. This also means that students who are found responsible for violating a College policy while living in Cornell suites or apartments are at risk for being removed from that living environment. Students who sign the lottery form give their consent for the Residence Life Office to review their conduct history at Cornell College.

Selection Process

Because the units have varying sizes, each group may preference only units of a particular size (meaning the group would consider only, for example, a double occupancy apartment). Or groups may preference a large apartment and would indicate a willingness to split into smaller groups (so a four-person group would preference getting a four-person apartment but would indicate a willingness to split into two two-person apartments if available). Each group will draw 1 number. That same number will be used throughout the Wilch Apartments lottery.

- A group's first choice must be for an apartment that is large enough to fit exactly the number of group members. This means that a four-person group must have as their first preference a four-person apartment.
- A group may be willing to break into smaller groups. Groups will indicate which members (if any) are willing to break into smaller groups (and the priority of those groups). So, a group of four may choose to break into 2 groups of two. The lottery form must indicate the priority order of the smaller groups. For example, if that group of four breaks into 2 doubles and only one two-person apartment remains, the lottery form must indicate which pair will be offered that apartment.

Meal plans and housing rates

Those students living in Wilch Apartments have the option to choose 7 meals per week (and may also choose the 14 meals per week or 20 meals per week option). The meal plan information on this form is only valid if the corresponding student is able to be assigned to Wilch Apartments (any student not assigned to Wilch Apartments will be subject to the meal plan expectations of whatever housing assignment they do get). Students who select a "full" meal plan will make their specific meal plan preference (between the 14 or 20 meals per week) over the summer. All rooms are billed at the rate set by the College. A student living in a single in an apartment will be billed the single room rate.

All-gender housing

Residence Life recognizes that traditional housing options do not meet all students' needs, in particular regarding a student's gender identity or gender expression. Students interested in entering into the Wilch apartments in an all-gender group must also complete the All-Gender Housing Request Form (available at <http://www.cornellcollege.edu/residence-life/housing/room-selection/all-gender-housing.shtml>).

Residence Life will first try to place the entire group. If no space of that size is available, then the group has the option to split into at most two smaller groups. The first of the two smaller groups has the option to be placed in the Wilch Apartments only if we can also place the other group. Groups can also decide that if both smaller groups cannot be placed in the apartments, then neither group wants to be placed there.

If only the first of the two small groups can be placed in the Wilch Apartments, Residence Life should:

_____ place only the first group _____ place neither group

OPTIONAL: First small group (group members listed below must also be in the large group above)
